Hi Bob--What about 4:00 p.m. EST today (10/31)? If that doesn't work, how about 11:00 a.m. EST tomorrow? I'll be attentive to my email so that I'll quickly learn your preferences. One caveat: we have a staff meeting scheduled for 1 - 3 EST. It's my first with Hans, and I don't know if he's prone to overflow. . . I still think an hour buffer will suffice, and I can call you at 4 if you're available. Thanks for such a prompt response.

I have received MDA stability data, included below (email message and Excel file). I'm going to go ahead and authorize analysis of specimens according the caveat they included. This is a requirement for immediate analysis of samples since the processed samples stored for 24 hours did not meet the stability acceptance criterion. This is doable in the Pilot, but this will be another concern about inclusion of MDA in plasma in the Total Exposure Study.

Fwd: MDA plasma stability data...

I also have glucuronide "graphical" data which I will fax you since we had some difficulties with email forwards yesterday.

Thanks again for your participation in this review. Talk to you soon.

Robin, I have the nic-glucuronide data in hand, via fax. My initial review leaves me with several questions that are probably best handled by another telephone conference. I'm at my residence, 660-627-2525, for the next four working days, Oct 31-Nov 5 and can talk with you at your convenience. Get me an e-mail about when it is convenient for you and I will be at the phone.

Most of November is a blur. I'm traveling to the SAB meeting at Tyson's Corner Nov. 7/9 with the 9th a travel day home. Kathleen and I then begin an road odyssey that visit children, grandchildren, and aunts through Syracuse, NY and Wilmington, NC for Thanksgiving. As you know, we'll be in Richmond for the 27-28, after Thanksgiving.

Let's try to talk about nic/glucuronide ASAP and then do face-to-face stuff, including Jan, if you feel it will help, during our time together in Richmond. Best regards, Bob Libby
